

Dr. Amy Patillo, University of Missouri Extension, patilloa@missouri.edu , (417) 881- 8909 Ext. 42956

Dr. Amy Patillo serves as a Labor and Workforce Development Specialist with the University of Missouri Extension. Dr. Patillo has been with the University of Missouri Extension since 2011, she has 15 years of experience providing training and leadership development programs for businesses and non-profit corporations. Dr. Patillo's areas of emphasis include labor and workforce, economic development initiatives, leadership development and business consulting, community enterprise leadership development, positive youth development, visioning, strategic planning and group decision-making processes. She primarily works with Chamber's, collaborating partners, community leaders, and youth and community members to provide educational programs throughout Missouri. Dr. Patillo earned a Master's in Communication Sciences and Disorders and a second Master's in Educational Administration from Missouri State University, as well as a Specialist degree and Doctorate degree in Educational Leadership and Administration from St. Louis University.